Section 10 of the Public Records Act \(NI\) 1923 requires that the Deputy Keeper, under the direction of the Minister, shall once in every year furnish a report to the First Minister and the deputy First Minister of the proceedings taken under the Act and that report shall be laid before the Assembly.

TO THE MINISTER FOR COMMUNITIES

I beg to submit this Annual Report for your approval and onwards transmission to the First Minister and deputy First Minister.

Dr Michael Willis
Deputy Keeper of the Records

TO THE FIRST MINISTER AND DEPUTY FIRST MINISTER

Pursuant on section 10 of the Public Records Act (NI) 1923 (as amended), I am pleased to submit to you this Annual Report of proceedings under that Act during 2015-16.

The 1923 Act refers to PRONI's staff and financial resources. Those matters are dealt with in DCAL's Annual Report and Resource accounts for the year ended 31 March 2016.

Paul Givan MLA
Minister for Communities

REPORT OF THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE RECORDS 2015-2016

1. The Public Record Office of Northern Ireland (PRONI) was established under the Public Records Act \(NI\) 1923 for the reception and preservation of public records
2. PRONI cares for over 3 million unique items. The archive is of immense social, economic and historical value to individuals, communities and enterprises here. It inspires interest, and attracts visitors from across the world.

RECEIVING AND PRESERVING RECORDS

Removal of records to PRONI

3. Each year, public sector organisations create many millions of records. The majority of these remain of value only for a period of time – and section 8 of the 1923 Act and the Disposal of Documents Order 1925 provide for their destruction.
4. With the advice of PRONI, public records authorities develop Retention and Disposal Schedules showing which classes of records will be destroyed and the number of years for which each of class of record must be retained before destruction.
5. The schedules are subject to the agreement of the Minister and to negative resolution in the Assembly. The 8 organisations whose Retention and Disposal Schedules were laid in the Assembly during 2015-16 are listed at Annex 1.
6. Public authority records which are judged to be of lasting value are removed to PRONI under section 3 of the 1923 Act for permanent preservation. The Departments and other public authorities whose records were accessioned by PRONI during 2015-16 are listed at Annex 2.

Emergency Planning

7. The PRONI building is designed to ensure the security and protection of the records. The archive is managed to PD5454:2012 Guide for the storage and exhibition of archival materials.

8. PRONI regularly practices and improves its emergency response and recovery techniques. The Emergency Plan for Archives was reviewed and updated in December 2015.

Digitisation of Records

9. By digitising records, PRONI can provide potentially unlimited access to the digital images, while preserving the originals. During 2015-16, PRONI captured 21,695 digital images.

DEPOSITS OF DOCUMENTS BY TRUSTEES OR OTHER PERSONS

Private Records

10. Section 5 of the 1923 Act permits PRONI to receive records of lasting value from non-government sources. Every deposit received under section 5 is a valuable contribution to our shared heritage.
11. Among this year's accessions are significant records relating to the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Ireland including minutes of its Western Presbytery from the date of its first constitution. Other important collections include the estate records of the MacNaghten family of Dundarave, Co. Antrim and the Pollock family of Mountainstown, Co. Meath. Annex 3 provides details of all private deposits received during 2015-16.
12. To show its appreciation and strengthen its relationship with depositors, PRONI hosted its second annual Depositor's Day in April 2015. This highly successful event enabled those who had deposited records to engage with staff and the archive, and also provided opportunity for potential depositors to hear about the service on offer.
13. The range of records received under section 5 which were catalogued during 2015-16 include a substantial body of church records, the records of a range of businesses and organisations, and the papers of individuals such as Eva Chichester, Rev. George Good and Countess Markievicz. Further cataloguing was also undertaken on the Londonderry papers. Details are at Annex 4.

MAKING RECORDS AVAILABLE TO THE PUBLIC

Release of government files from 1987 and 1988

14. Each year, PRONI make historical government records publicly available; generally these are the files of NI Departments and the Northern Ireland Office (Belfast).
15. On 21 August 2015, PRONI released 692 files dating from 1987, of which 150 had some information blanked out. On 30 December, 620 files dating from 1988, were released, of which 156 had some material withheld. One hundred and ninety nine files from 1987 and 1988 could not be released. In most cases, the reasons for blanking out material or withholding files was to protect personal information as required by section 40 of the Freedom of Information Act.
16. The released files are listed in the PRONI catalogue and they are available to consult at PRONI. A sample of the topics they cover is at Annex 5.

Supporting the Inquiry into Historical Institutional Abuse

17. Throughout 2015-16 PRONI continued to provide support to the Inquiry into Historical Institutional Abuse. PRONI accommodates the Inquiry Research Team and its equipment and provides secure and timely access to the many thousands of files in PRONI which may be relevant to the Inquiry's deliberations.

Digital Sources Published Online

18. During 2015/16, the PRONI website was consolidated into the NI Direct platform. This involved a complete review of all content on the former website and the development of a new framework for the display of PRONI content within a bespoke PRONI branded area of NI Direct.
19. PRONI continues to increase the reach and impact of the archive by exploiting digital opportunities. By making resources available online, PRONI provides opportunities for individuals, communities and enterprises here; it also helps to raise the profile of this place and to attract visitors.

20. PRONI recorded 13,989,645 page views across the PRONI website, the PRONI web archive and the Flickr photograph stream. This exceeded the target of 13.5 million page views for the year.
21. In 2015/16 the PRONI area on the Flickr photo-sharing website attracted 2,756,542 page views. A series of photo merges, (archival photographs blended with an image taken in the present day) has proved popular both with the local media and the wider public – at home and further afield.
22. A single merged image of Carlisle Circus, Belfast has attracted 20,373 page views to date. It was selected by Flickr to appear on their 'Explore Flickr' page, an honour and recommendation which ensured the high level of interest.
23. To date photo merges have been created of locations in Counties Down (Bangor, Newtownards, Comber and Donaghadee), Antrim (Belfast and Carrickfergus) and Tyrone (Strabane and Sion Mills). The County Tyrone images were created in partnership with the Strabane and District Camera Club, who provided PRONI with the present day photographs to merge with archival shots from the Cooper Photographic Collection (PRONI reference D1422).
24. Other popular and fascinating images have been of the Kingspan (Ravenhill) rugby ground, where images of the current Ulster Rugby team were merged with shots of American GIs during World War 2 playing American Football and Baseball in the stadium in the 1940s.
25. PRONI merged images have received in excess of 250,000 page views and have been 'favourited' 444 times.

Document Production on-site

26. During the year, customers requested 34,790 documents from the repository, 98% of these requests were met within 30 minutes. Each month, document retrieval time targets were met or exceeded.

PRONI on CAIN

27. The PRONI at CAIN partnership publishes conflict-related documents selected from the released NIO and NI Departmental files. CAIN (Conflict Archive on the Internet) is hosted by Ulster

University. CAIN's Deputy Director selects the papers, which PRONI then digitises.

28. During 2015-16, PRONI at CAIN posted 430 records comprising 2000 pages from 1985 and 1986, most of these were from Central Secretariat files. The updates were completed in October and January respectively. This brought the total number of PRONI records on CAIN to 1,501 (a total of 6,300 pages). During 2015, PRONI at CAIN search programme was accessed over 15,000 times and the most popular document was a Civil Rights report from 1968 which was accessed over 1,900 times.

Visits to PRONI

29. During 2015/16, PRONI welcomed a record number of 22,294 visitors who made use of the research facilities, attended a lecture or participated in an event. This surpassed the previous record of 20,318 visitors in 2014/15 and exceeded the Departmental target of 22,000.
30. Of those, 3,840 were from outside of Northern Ireland. This included 1,159 from USA; 551 from Australia and New Zealand; and 403 from Canada which reinforces the continued value of 'roots tourism' to the Northern Ireland economy. These included a group of archive students from the University of Kentucky who attended a workshop on archiving at PRONI; 175 visitors attending Ulster Historical Foundation conferences; and groups from the Boston Irish Family History Group and The New England Historic Genealogical Society.
31. In total, there were 4,439 new readers over the year. 14,612 visitors made use of the research areas, 2,509 attended lectures, exhibitions and events, 1,775 came as part of an organised group, and 3,392 came as part of an organised public sector event.
32. PRONI held 82 public events during the year including amongst others: talks by Queen's University of Belfast on Poverty in Belfast; Irish language presentations by Foras na Gaeilge; and a series on family history sources entitled 'Your Family Tree'. Most of these were recorded and are available on PRONI's YouTube channel. The majority of the events programme was a result of collaborative partnerships with other parts of the Department of Culture Arts and Leisure family including, amongst others: Libraries NI, Linen Hall Library, National Museums of Northern Ireland, NI Screen, the Nerve Centre in addition to joint partnerships with the universities, local councils, BBC NI and other public sector bodies. See Annex 6 for a full list of talks and events.

33. Throughout 2015/16, PRONI hosted 110 group learning visits, 10 of which were in conjunction with Go ON NI Digital Transformation Service as part of Get Online Week. Group visits from the voluntary and community sector included a Newtownabbey Stroke Association Support Group; Action Deaf Youth; Farset Youth and Community Development Ltd; and Donegall Pass Community Forum.
34. During the year, PRONI also launched a new monthly workshop service aimed at new users who were provided with familiarisation sessions on online and on-site sources. Other groups visiting included the Irish Legal History Society, who held their AGM at PRONI and enjoyed a talk and tour of the facilities; and a group of European history educators who visited to learn more about PRONI's archives as part of the EUROCLIO Annual Conference.

Remote Correspondence

35. In 2015/16, PRONI responded to 2,806 written queries for access to open records. Staff answered 97.61% within ten working days, and 99.53% of all queries within 14 working days.

Releasing court and inquest records and other sensitive personal information

36. PRONI has continued to provide access to information contained in Court files and Coroner's inquest records. PRONI assists individuals and their representatives who want to find out more about the events surrounding the death of a family member or obtain information about themselves. Applicants may apply for access to this information under the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998, the Freedom of Information Act 2000 or the Public Records Act (NI) 1923.
37. During 2015-2016, PRONI released information to 74 applicants under the Public Records Act (NI) 1923. An additional 28 requests were responded to under the Freedom of Information Act while two applicants received their own information under the Data Protection Act.

Introduction of Statutory Rules – Privileged Access to Court Records

38. In January 2015 the DCAL Minister launched a pilot process enabling information contained in Court and Inquest files to be released outside of the Freedom of Information Act. In order to codify this process, the Minister gave approval for the development and introduction of Statutory Rules under section 9 of the Public Records Act. This was to give relatives and their representatives and other people adversely affected by an incident contained in a court file the opportunity to apply for privileged access to copies of information contained in court files.
39. PRONI subsequently conducted a public consultation on the draft rules which included engagement events in Derry/Londonderry, Portadown and Belfast. The Court Files Privileged Access Rules \(NI\) 2016 [SR 2016-0123] were laid at the NI Assembly and became operational on 30 March 2016.

Prisons Memory Archive

40. The Prisons Memory Archive (PMA) was recorded in 2006-2007 and is principally made up of 175 audio-visual digital recordings of prison staff, prisoners, and others who passed through Armagh Gaol and the Maze and Long Kesh Prison. In 2015 a partnership of Queen's University Belfast, the PMA Management Group and PRONI secured a Heritage Lottery Grant (HLF) for the development phase of a larger project which seeks to preserve the archive, increase accessibility to the recordings and encourage community engagement with it. PRONI and its project partners plan to make an application to the HLF for funding for the delivery phase of this project.

PRONI Catalogue

41. The PRONI catalogue was expanded by 13,941 item descriptions during the year.

Permission to Publish and Written Queries

42. Requests for permission to publish material from the records are listed at Annex 7. They highlight the diverse range of ways in which archives are being used by researchers.

PRONI Out and About

43. In conjunction with Libraries NI, PRONI toured a number of exhibitions across the country. These included a First World War exhibition using images from PRONI's collections which was displayed at libraries in Armagh, Omagh, Falls Road and Tullycarnet in Belfast, Cookstown, Craigavon, Ballymena, Bangor, Newry, Downpatrick and Enniskillen.
44. An exhibition co-curated with staff from Queen's University of Belfast (QUB) entitled 'Surviving the City: Poverty and Public Health in Belfast', was exhibited in both PRONI and QUB. See Annex 8 for a list of exhibitions loaned by PRONI and Annex 9 for a list of travelling exhibitions that were displayed at PRONI.
45. PRONI participated in European Heritage Open Days on the weekend of 13-14 September. A full public service was provided on the Saturday, including document production. A limited service that included organised tours was available on the Sunday.
46. During the Bushmills Salmon and Whiskey Festival, PRONI provided an information stall at the Salmon Station open day on 19 September 2015, which attracted over 1,600 visitors through the gates.
47. The PRONI User Forum continued to meet throughout the year. The Forum consists of key stakeholders, advocates and representatives from peer institutions and arms length bodies. In total four meetings of the User Forum took place and members received updates relating to PRONI activities and events, and identified future partnership opportunities.

Document of the Month

48. During the 2015/16 financial year, PRONI selected a series of 12 Documents of the Month which were targeted to the broadcast and print media. These appeared in amongst others: BBC NI; Belfast Telegraph, Irish News, and Northern Visions Television (NVTV). See Annex 10 for a list of Documents of the Month.

PRONI in the Media

49. The PRONI building and a number of PRONI documents featured prominently in the Mark Gatiss episode of Who Do You Think You Are? which was broadcast on 8 October 2015. Gatiss is an English actor, comedian, screenwriter and novelist, best known for the League of Gentlemen, Doctor Who and Sherlock. The BBC and RTE used a large number of PRONI images to support their overarching programme of social and broadcast media surrounding the centenaries of 1916 including BBC Voices 1916.

Decade of Centenaries

50. PRONI led on behalf of the Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure (DCAL) in coordinating public and Ministerial responses relating to the 'Decade of Centenaries' 1912-23 commemorations. PRONI organised a programme of events exploring various facets of the Decade, including hosting monthly talks by the Western Front Association; hosting a half day conference on Gallipoli on 30 April 2015 and exhibiting a travelling exhibition on the Connaught Rangers in June 2015. Throughout the year, PRONI released extracts of transcripts from First World War related documents, 1915-16. These transcripts are available on the First World War journal pages within the PRONI website. PRONI also made available on the website an online resource relating to suffrage entitled 'Stand up and be counted'. This resource was produced in conjunction with The Junction in Derry/Londonderry in keeping with the principles of its Ethical and Shared Remembering Project.

Oral History Archive

51. The Stormont House Agreement relating to the legacy of the troubles contained a commitment to establish an Oral History Archive.
52. The Oral History Archive is to be a central place for people from all backgrounds to share experiences and narratives relating to the Troubles and to draw together existing oral history projects.
53. Substantial progress was made on the development of a model for the Archive which was to be established within PRONI.
54. Following the Fresh Start Agreement, the parties to the Agreement have reaffirmed their commitment to the full and fair implementation of the Stormont House Agreement provisions on the past. There remains a need to resolve outstanding issues and the two Governments will reflect on the options for a process to enable this.
